

I am worried about the ramifications of the proposal to remove regulations that limit consolidation of ownership of media entities. I believe that a removal of regulations will reduce the access that Americans have to the wide variety of programming allowing us to form well founded and well informed opinions.